In January we drove to Cartersville, Georgia for a mini family reunion with most of our family and Gordon's sister Joan's family. Greta flew in from Seattle and Evan from St. Paul. Among other things we went treasure hunting in a park.

Gordon's home project this year was refinishing the garage floor with epoxy paint. We held a birthday party for Mary Jane and Euna in July and then a block party on America's "Nite to Unite."

We had a number of relatives over Mary Jane's Birthday in July. Mary Jane and Euna had candles to blow out.

On August 17, descendants of Gordon's grandfather Arnold Johnson had a reunion at the church in Center City. It was organized by his brother Gary and Uncle Orville. Then we drove out to the Johnson property, where Gary and Bonnie live, walked the woods, and stood on the spot at the old farmstead where we were married 43 years ago.

We took Jack and, Euna to the Minnesota zoo.

Greta is learning rock climbing and loves backpacking in Washington state. In Lansing, Michigan, she taught a "Roots and Shoots" garden class inspired by Jane Goodall.

For Jayna's 40th birthday on August 26, we had quite the meal at Forepaugh's restaurant in St. Paul.

We hosted a party for Evan's birthday in November and was happy to welcome his girlfriend Mary, who had also attended the Johnson family reunion.

For Thanksgiving we invited Jayna and Paul's neighbor, Jean-Pierre, to join us for the buffet at Rudy's Red Eye Grill. Then we posed at hotel Christmas tree.
